Welcome!

Greetings to all from the Ingalls Centennial Ranch, home of the oldest Angus herd in South Dakota. It is with mixed emotions that we invite you to our female dispersion in Belle Fourche, South Dakota on December 1st. These cows have been our life for so long that it will be a big change, and change is hard for old people, but we are excited and confident that the cows will do as well for someone else as they have for us. We are holding back a few cows special to us but every bred heifer is in the sale and we think you will be impressed with them as well as their older sisters. We hope you can be with us in Belle Fourche on December 1st and join us as we pass this milestone. We will cherish your presence.

Sincerely,

Hugh & Eleanor

COMMENTS FROM DR. ROBBI PRITCHARD

Reflecting on the stories I have heard over the years it seems likely Hugh's commitment to the SDBCIA and performance records was what initially led SDSU to purchase his steer calves for research trials in the late '70's. The two things necessary for a relationship to last for nearly 40 years are profitable cattle and good people.

I became involved in 1984 when Hugh and his brother Dale agreed to participate in a preconditioning research project. By the end of the third calf crop needed for the project I understood that Hugh was an exceptional stockman who was committed to maintaining the productivity of his rangeland. I had tapped into a gold mine of experience and wisdom. Subsequent collaborations came easily because of his enthusiasm for using research and data to improve his cattle. Hugh's family, friends, and neighbors became research technicians that the university could never afford. They provided the cow-calf end of over 20 research projects that covered everything from vaccinations to implants to genomics and involved thousands of calves. It was a project that used 96 of his steers (and their pedigrees) that completely redefined what is generally recognized today about how marbling develops when cattle are fed.

The payweight on the first calf crop I bought in 1984 was 485 lbs. The most recent calf crop payweight was 712 lbs. Same calving season, same weaning time, same ranch. Weaning weights blew through the suggested 565 lbs. ceiling for producing calves on the prairie a long time ago. Today the finished steers are 2 months younger when they leave the feedlot and the carcasses are 275 lbs. heavier than they were in 1985. With no sort they will grade >60 CAB with only 10% Yield Grade 4 carcasses.

Over the years Hugh studied the feedlot performance and carcass traits of the steers that we fed. Somehow he found a way to make the steers everything that any feedlot could ask for and still have a cow herd truly adapted to the prairie. You may hear someone comment that these cows are too big or that there isn't enough milk. I would argue all day long that they are not seeing the bigger picture. Efficiency in the cattle industry is the whole picture of transforming prairie into nutritious, high quality steaks. Done well it is the most remarkable biotransformation in all of agriculture. It is where the ranch, the feedlot, and the consumer can all be winners. These cows represent that balance which is so incredibly difficult to achieve. Hugh's unique talents and perseverance have blended husbandry and science to produce the truly exceptional cow herd here today.

Dr. Robbi Pritchard,
SDSU Animal and Range Sciences, retired

Note: Robbi began his career in the Department of Animal and Range Sciences at South Dakota State University in 1984. He was honored as a Distinguished Professor by SDSU in 2005, SDSU's highest level of distinction recognizing faculty members.

COMMENTS FROM TJ GABRIEL

For the past five years I have had the pleasure of working with the Ingalls and Dieters Families at Centennial Angus Ranch. It's one of the highlights of my year to be able to help them out with the fall work. There is no need to speak to the history of the oldest Angus Ranch in South Dakota but I would take a moment to speak to the fertility of the cowherd. Over the years the results have been clear that the females consistently conceive A.I. or in the first cycle with limited females being in the later calving groups. I might also add that as a group the females have one of the lowest open rates that I personally see. It's a testament to the management and care of the cowherd that has allowed the genetics to flourish.

TJ Gabriel, Ultrasound Technician

COMMENTS FROM MARC HOTCHKISS

The year was 1895, and the purchase of a registered Angus bull by James Ingalls began a 125-year legacy. What James began has grown into the oldest registered Angus herd in South Dakota, and also one of the largest.

Fast forward to today. Hugh and Eleanor Ingalls have carried on, developing their herd into what is known today as Ingalls Centennial Angus. Their business has a stellar reputation of improving traits which are hugely important to ranchers who make a living off the grasslands of the western Dakotas, eastern Montana and Wyoming. Those traits are fertility, adaptability to an environment with extremes, and pounds weaned. For over 30 years they worked with South Dakota State University, providing up to 200 steers per year for feedlot and carcass research. Dr. Pritchard recently said to me, "Marc, if they didn't have cattle that would pay for the producer, we would have moved on."

Another trait the Ingalls have worked hard to develop is docility in their cattle. These cattle are calm! I was able to evaluate all of these cattle in September and spent several days out in the pastures with them. Very nice to work with.

What an opportunity for those who are wanting to build and develop a herd or those wanting to improve their current stock. You can't miss with these genetics.

If you have any questions, let us know and we will get them answered for you.

INGALLS CENTENNIAL ANGUS

ANGUS HISTORY

In western South Dakota, the Ingalls name and Angus cattle have been synonymous for many years. The history of Ingalls Angus goes back 126 years, beginning in 1894 when Hugh's great grandfather James purchased a bull in Illinois, as seen here on registration certificate. He also has a copy of the transfer and handwritten pedigree.

of success that has not been achieved by any other Aberdeen-Angus bull in the history of the breed. Bar Marshall won the Senior Bull Calf Class at the 1917 International Livestock Show in Chicago and later became the International Grand Champion Bull in 1922.

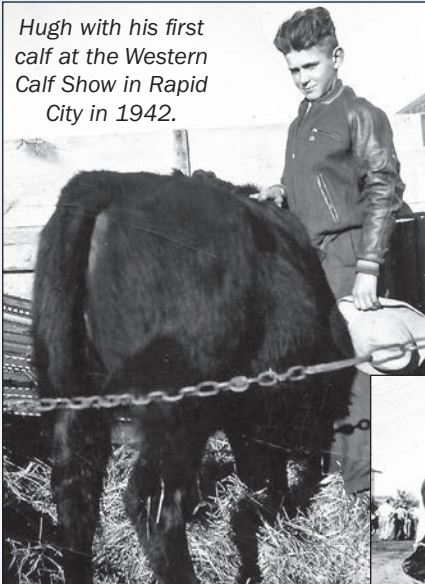

Lawrence Ingalls, Hugh's father, purchased his first registered Angus in the early 1920s. Then in 1942, Hugh began his herd when his dad transferred to him a heifer calf, Bessie 1.3. When Hugh took this calf to the Western Calf Show in Rapid City the fall of 1942, she was the first black Angus to compete in that show. This heifer went on to be quite a producer — having heifer calves the first six

With these early beginnings, we hold the distinction of being the oldest Angus herd in South Dakota. Some of Hugh's great-grandsons are now raising their own Angus cattle, making seven generations of Ingalls Angus.

RANCH AND FAMILY HISTORY

Throughout his high school years, Hugh continued growing his herd and was very involved in 4-H. Following his graduation from Sturgis High School in '47, he attended college in Brookings, graduating with an associate's degree in agriculture in 1949. By the time he left Brookings, he also had a pilot's license and shortly afterwards traded in his '38 years, and staying active in his herd until 1957. Her pedigree goes back to Bar Marshall on both the sire and dam sides.

Note: Bar Marshall, born in 1917, was the first sire from the famed Earl Marshall, a bull that won 1st Prize Get-of-Sire at the Chicago International Livestock show for seven consecutive years, from 1918 to 1924—a level

Chey Business Coupe for an airplane. Later that same year he also met the love of his life. In the months before Hugh and Eleanor married, he already had his cows on what would become their home place. On numerous occasions, Hugh flew in with his J5 Piper Cub, pitched some hay over the fence to his cows, or unloaded and fed some cubes, and then flew away.

In June of 1950, Hugh and Eleanor married and moved into their little home along Horse Creek, not far from Horse Butte — a distinctive landmark of the Ingalls ranch.

By 1960, six children were added to their family: Marie, Peggy, Dan, Kenny, Beth and Laila. As each child became old enough to join 4-H, they were given a heifer calf with which to start their own Angus herds. Throughout their years at home, they showed their cattle in 4-H and were involved in the daily life and work of the ranch.

From the 1950s to the mid-90s, Hugh worked in partnership with his father Lawrence and his brother Dale. When the partnership dissolved, Hugh and Eleanor named their business Ingalls Centennial Angus in honor of the 100 years that had passed since his great-grandfather purchased his first Angus.

The house and buildings have changed through the years, but Hugh and Eleanor's love for each other, for God, and for ranching and raising Angus have not.

OUR HERD GOALS

Our goal through the years has been to raise Angus cattle that commercial producers can use with confidence to increase the quality and production of their operation. That said, when we have been willing to sell registered cows, they have been a welcome addition to the herds of other registered breeders in the Angus business.

Our herd consists of moderate-sized, highly maternal females. The bulls have moderate birth weights and sufficient size. We have always been careful to avoid the extreme trends of the business.

Production records have been an important part of our genetic program since 1956, but, again, we have worked to maintain a healthy balance between production scores and realistic cattle. Our herd is raised to survive on grass, with milking and mothering abilities as herd priorities.

IN THE WORDS OF HUGH

About Angus cows:

“Through fad and fashion, good years and bad, the Angus cow has been, is today, and will be tomorrow, the pattern of excellence for others to follow and attempt to attain.”

Commercial Bred Heifers

These heifers are Ingalls breeding and have always been with their registered mates. They were A.I.'d to Deep Creek 38 Special 900 and then Pasture Exposed to Deep Creek 38 Special 900, Centennial Supreme 574 and Centennial Windy 827. They were ultrasounded August 21st, 2020 at the same time as the registered bred heifers.

IN THE WORDS OF HUGH

About Faith:

“I’ve been blessed to live in South Dakota, Meade County, the heart of the midwest. We all know there’s a heaven, but this must be as close as you can get on earth. God is good and I’ve been blessed. Any honor or success I’ve attained, I thank the Lord and my family, friends and neighbors and all the acquaintances who have helped us and encouraged us down through the years. I’m very grateful.”

WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT HUGH & ELEANOR

“Over the years, Hugh has contributed a great deal of time, effort and resources that allowed SDSU to do impactful research we could not do without that kind of support. Holding to principles of good character and good ranching, Hugh does this anywhere, anytime and a whole lot of people know it. I haven’t met anyone involved in the state’s cattle industry that is more widely known and respected.”

— Robbi Pritchard,

SDSU Professor of Ruminant Nutrition, Retired

WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT HUGH & ELEANOR

"Hugh is a good old boy but his stomach is a long way from his brain."

— Winfred Bauer, a good friend of Hugh's that passed away this spring.

IN THE WORDS OF ELEANOR

On life on the ranch in the early years, getting electricity after second child, and running water after fifth child:

“That wasn’t unusual. Everybody, the neighbors, we were pretty much all the same, so you didn’t feel like it was unusual. We started out with nothing and got along with what we had and were happy with what we had.”

IN THE WORDS OF HUGH

About work and perseverance:

"I guess I have a little optimism bred into me. If things got tough, my dad used to say, 'Never give up 'til you're dead.'"

IN THE WORDS OF ELEANOR

“One of the reasons we’re still here is because we get up every morning and have breakfast, and he’s out of the house to go feed his cows. It’s one of the biggest joys in his life — to go feed his cows and do his outside things.”

— July 2016

IN THE WORDS OF HUGH

About work and perseverance:

“When you choose a vocation, you want to do the best you can with it. If you aren’t interested in what you’re doing, then you’re not enjoying the best part of life.”

IN THE WORDS OF HUGH

About Faith:

"When you list priorities, it's the Lord first, family second and cows third.

Although I'm sure there are times when it looks like the cows are first."

IN THE WORDS OF HUGH

About the Atlas blizzard:

“When things like this happen — and they will happen if you’re here long enough — it’s just another chapter in the book, another page in life. You’ve got to keep on going. You’ve got to take what comes. Buck up and do the best you can. Help your neighbors, do what you can.”
